

Method and Apparatus for facilitating the introduction and communication of individuals or groups traveling to and from casino destinations in the Gaming Industry for the purpose of dating.

Abstract

An object of the present invention comprises a method and apparatus for providing a potential dating client management system for dating clients that are traveling to a casino destination, entertainment destination, club venue, or restaurant, concert or other venue out of their normal geographical area. Said system services these dating clients on a wide area network, such as the Internet, and directly controls the process and all related facts surrounding the complete interaction of the process between the clients, the venue, and the potential casino destination. In other words, potential dating clients may use this system to find other potential dating clients that will or could be on the same trip to the same town and available to meet.